

The Dragon Who Collected Umbrellas

Once upon a time, in a bright and colorful land, there lived a friendly dragon named Dazzle. Dazzle was not like other dragons who hoarded gold or treasures.

Instead, Dazzle had a special love for umbrellas! He collected all kinds of umbrellas—big, small, polka-dotted, and rainbow-striped. His cozy cave was filled with umbrellas of every color, shining like a rainbow.

One sunny day, Dazzle was out flying over the town when he spotted a little girl named Lily. She was standing outside, frowning because her red umbrella had blown away in the wind.

Dazzle swooped down, his shimmering green scales sparkling in the sunlight. "Don't worry! I can help you find it!" he said with a cheerful roar.

Together, they searched high and low. They looked behind bushes, under trees, and even in puddles. Dazzle used his big wings to create a gentle breeze, hoping to help the umbrella come back. Finally, they spotted it stuck in the branches of a tall tree! Dazzle stretched his long neck and used his gentle breath to blow it free, and the red umbrella floated down softly like a feather.

Lily was so happy! "Thank you, Dazzle! You're the best!" she exclaimed, twirling her umbrella with joy. Dazzle smiled, his heart feeling warm. "I love helping my friends!" he said proudly.

From that day on, Dazzle and Lily became the best of friends. Dazzle even invited her to visit his cave, where she saw all his wonderful umbrella collection. They laughed and played, sharing stories under the colorful canopies. And whenever it rained, Dazzle would fly over the town, making sure everyone had a cheerful umbrella to keep them dry.

The End

This story was dreamed up on June 12, 2026.

built with Dreamy

This page is for your own drawing.

